

Exotic Zeina [119] - Zeina Alghamdi - 1 -Saudi Oil Executive in Hawaii - XXXXZZZZ - Meaning of Name

How this 1 Star girl got the name Zeina Alghamdi

Because this is only a 1 Star girl, you don't get her last name from her statistics. Zeina does have two 3 Star variants and if I get one of those, then we will have a more in-depth background. Now if I happen to get one of the other two Zenias, I'll probably still keep this background for this 1 Star girl. There could be more than one Zeina in my harem. Because Zeina is a name that is common for girls in the Middle East, Australia, and Greece; it is also a common Muslim name for girls; I had to choose her origin. So based on her first name and the fact that Zeina is the most common girls name in Saudi Arabia and because there are a subgroup of Arabs that have blue eyes, in the creation of her background I began with her being born in Saudi Arabia and therefore needed a common Saudi last name. In my research I came across the name Alghamdi and because of its meaning, I chose it for Zeina. From her first character picture, she is wearing a grass skirt, has a lei [Hawaiian necklace], has a flower over her right ear [means she is single], and is dancing what COULD be a Hawaiian Hula storytelling dance, so I had to have her somehow get to Hawaii starting from Saudi Arabia. Easy, Saudi Arabia is known for oil [and deserts and the Moslem religion]. Zeina Alghamdi's father could very well be an executive in the oil business. Looking at Saudi Arabia oil companies, I chose Almasaoodoilgas as the company her father works for in the city of Dammam on the coast of the Persian Gulf. From Zeina's first star scene, it is clear that Zeina and our hero are on a beach with palm trees, that and the Hawaiian outfit seem to place her in Hawaii. Now Hawaii has no oil wells or coal and very few trees and imports all their oil from overseas. Hawaii's major energy is electrical and it is 90% produced by burning oil. So Zeina's father works in Hawaii for Almasaoodoilgas as their agent selling oil and manages the sales staff. Zeina's entire family has lived in Hawaii for over 15 years [since Zeina was 5 years old]. Although Hawaiians are very open-minded and tolerant of different races and religions, Zeina's father wanted Zeina to attend an all girl school. This wasn't so much to keep her away from boys [at least not consciously], but in an all girl school, leadership roles would go to female students and not to the male students as there would be none. Zeina never thought about it as she started in an exclusive girl school in Kindergarten and remained in them all the way through high school. Zeina's outgoing personality and team leadership skills made her popular with the other students and she had many friends [some of whom had brothers – not mentioned to the father]. Zeina didn't feel isolated and her ambitions didn't include having numerous boyfriends. The family returned to Saudi Arabia one summer when Zeina was 14 years old. It was a shock to her to see women wearing abayas, usually paired with the hijab (headscarf) or niqab (which leaves a slit for the eyes), or a burqa (which covers the body from head to toe, with a mesh for the eyes). As a young Arab girl in Saudi Arabia her father made her wear a burqa for the first time in her life. Her father actually didn't want to do it, because he is a man who treats women as equals, BUT his good overseas job was on the line due to some of the company's zealot Muslims and it was only for one summer he promised Zeina and that when they returned to Hawaii she would never have to wear it again. She wore that burqa whenever she went outside. Secretly this pleased the father because in a burqa Zeina's obvious well curved and fit body would have attracted marriage proposals even at 14. The burqa helped avoid unwanted male attractions. But that was not the worst thing Zeina learned about Saudi culture. At 14 she saw how Saudi men treated women as second class, always under their rule. This was something she could not support because of her Aries nature and her own independence. She swore to herself that she would never of her own free will return to Saudi Arabia and certainly never marries a Saudi man. Zeina's father won back his position as manager of the Hawaiian account with assurances it was his until he retired. When Zeina turned 18 years old, her father gave her a job as a sales agent for the Almasaoodoilgas Company which was perfect for her as she had financial smarts and although quite hard working, her sales job only required about fifteen hours a week of sales meetings with her government and private customers. Her good looks and knowledge of Hawaii made her a favorite of her customers who were happy to continue their contracts with her which gave her a considerable commission. Zeina was smart enough to know that it wouldn't last as the government and private companies were slowly moving to renewable energy - wind and thermal. Still living at home at 18, she used all her income to invest in stocks and real estate. Her mother loved to buy her clothes and other nice things so Zeina never spent her own money on that but always looked first-class. Her financial mind and keen understand allowed her to make very successful investments. She started her real estate business by getting a loan; her father put his house up as collateral. The loan was for three years and with the money she bought a three year lease on a duplex. With her charm and personality she found stable renters. She was able to get the best renters because she offered the duplex at below the market value, but paid off the three-year loan in only 18 months by using the collected rent and her salary from the Almasaoodoilgas Company. With this excellent loan history, she was able to get an even larger loan, still using her father's house as collateral, and was able to buy the duplex with its proven renters. This duplex became the collateral for future loans and always Zeina was able to pay off the loans early. By the age of 22, Zeina had made very good investments and her real estate experience was how she found her very high quality but low price apartment and was able to move away from home. Now Zeina has plenty of time on her hands with a good income and little actual work time. Since only 0.5% of the Hawaiian population are Muslim, when Zeina turned 22 years old she was able to shed her Muslim religion and identify. After an entire life of girl schools and repressed sexuality, Zeina began to explore sexual relations with men. However, her high standards for herself and for those she would date kept the number of relationships down; no one would have considered her an easy pick up or a loose woman.

Meaning of Name Zeina Alghamdi

Zeina's Zodiac Sign is Aries. As an Aries-woman she is emotional, fun, free-spirited, positive, dynamic, adventurous, focused, ambitious, incredibly charismatic, passionate, bluntly honest, a natural leader with a powerful ability to inspire and motivate her team, and fiercely independent; the Aries woman is a breath of fresh air – a brightly burning candle in human form, with a fiery energy. Fire is her element, igniting all that she touches with the living spark of life. The Aries personality is creative, with a healthy ego and extremely high expectations, energetic and – at times – domineering, impatient, and short-tempered. However her sense of playfulness and an appreciation for absurdity makes Zeina the life of the party, and a joy to have as a companion. Zeina was great at getting things going, initiating endeavors, and infusing her enthusiasm into everything she does. Zeina does best as the center of attention, the head of a project, and always the Boss! Aries rules the first house, which is all about physicality – so Zeina as a female Aries lives fully in her body. The physical world is her natural domain, so a purely intellectual or emotional affair will simply not do for this glittering torch of a woman. She needs sexual connection on a regular basis to keep her happy (and healthy). Zeina looks well-groomed and beautiful with an excellent figure which she often emphasizes with tight-fitting outfits; however her own comfort is still more important than someone's opinion about her appearance so she often wears tight sportswear or regular tight jeans and undersized T-shirts. Zeina's birthstone is Red Muga (Coral) and her lucky Color is Red which kind of goes with her adventurous, ambitious, fiercely, energetic personality. From Zeina's Zodiac characteristic it is easy to see how she was so successful in business and well liked by her customers. These Zodiac characteristic also explains why she couldn't remain a true Muslim where women, although cherished, were always under the control of a man which doesn't go with her leadership potential, her fiercely independent nature, or her need to always be the Boss!

Zeina is pronounced as Z-IYNAH and this name originated in different locations and cultures but in all of them the name Zeina is equated with 'leader'. In Arabic the word Zeina also means 'something good and beautiful'. The name Zeina is associated with a great deal of willpower, courage, integrity, trustworthiness, and stability in their nature. A person named Zeina tends to have practical judgment when it comes to money and financial issues and understands how to build and accumulate material wealth through sensibility and management so Zeina is the perfect choice for business affairs. So we have her name Zeina and her Zodiac both saying that she would be great in business. It is no wonder that Zeina showed these characteristics in her stock market choices and her real estate business. Now for Zeina's last name Alghamdi [also spelled Al Ghamdi]. Alghamdi is an Arabic family name denoting a member of the Ghamd tribe of Saudi Arabia. There are also members of this tribe in Qatar, United Arab Emirates, Iraq, Oman, Kuwait, and Jordan. The history of Alghamdi tribe goes back to the pre-Islamic era, and many members of Alghamdi joined the forces of the early Muslim empire. The Alghamdi tribe sheltered, supported, and was companions who fought with Muhammad in the early days of Islam when he and his early companions from Mecca had to leave it for Medina. There is no doubt that Alghamdi is one of the oldest and largest tribes of Saudi Arabia, and one of the few tribes that have been known by name and tribal presence since pre-Islamic times until the present time, and the tribe still has control of their original lands. Alghamdi members ruled many countries throughout history such as Iran, Egypt, Iraq, Island of Arabia, and Jordan.

The name Alghamdi has been associated with power, comfort, strength, attention to details, good faith, mysteriousness, waywardness [following no clear pattern; unpredictable, or difficult or impossible to manage, control, or keep in order], sociability, affability, psychic ability, uncertainty, concealment of the inner world, pithiness [the quality or state of being marked by or using only a few words to convey much meaning], impressionability, peacefulness, subtle spirituality, artistry, great ingenuity, logics, pettiness, caring, shyness, pedantry [excessive concern with minor details and rules], hard working, interest in health, sharp mind, and creative ambitions. Yes this sounds like a shopping list of characteristics, but with a tribe as large as the Alghamdi, you are bound to get a wide range of traits. The surname Alghamdi explains the actions of the father that summer he made Zeina wear the burqa. He was a man of one of the oldest and most traditional Muslim tribes in Saudi Arabia, his family fought alongside Muhammad in ancient days and he grew up in the strict culture of his forefathers molded by the pedantic male members of his family. Only his genuine love for his only child, his daughter Zeina, could cause him to break away from that tradition and raise Zeina to have an independent spirit and not to break her will in order to be submissive to her future husband. He asked her to submit to the burqa so that he could guarantee her freedom in the future. Although Zeina could not see the sense in adhering to archaic rules, she loved her father and wanted to make him happy because he never asked very much from her.

Having her astrological information, the meaning of the name Zeina, and the meaning of the surname Alghamdi, we will create how she became part of our hero's harem. On this day Zeina had already dated about a dozen men, two of whom wanted to marry her after the first date. Zeina dropped them as being just too aggressive on marriage and she could see that they would want to control her and restrict who she would be allowed to see in the future. Zeina began to think of marriage as a burqa and she didn't like the idea at all. She knew that she needed a physical relationship and liked the idea of a steady romance but didn't need the control of a male in any marriage arrangement. Not knowing exactly what she needed in life didn't stop her from meeting new men; she just didn't jump in bed with them at the first opportunity unless she was sure they were not the controlling, domineering type. As an avid surfer she was always spending her free time at the beach, especially early in the morning when on-shore breezes were at their height because they made the best waves. She saw our hero as he was heading into the water as she was surfing in to shore and couldn't help but notice his well toned body and morning wood. Steering her surfboard to where our hero stood just over waist deep in the water, she jumped off and introduced herself [very Aries of you don't you think?]. Our hero was not put off by pick up lines from women, especially when they were exotic beauties like Zeina. They began talking and walking in the surf as Zeina let her surfboard float up to shore. Our hero mentioned that this was his first time to Hawaii and wanted to get some swimming in before taking a walking tour. They swam out into the surf together and on their return Zeina faked a leg muscle cramp to bring our hero within reach. Once together, it wasn't long before Zeina shed the bottom of her bikini swimsuit and they made love in the waves. Zeina always enjoyed beach sex but not all her partners were into it.

When they finally came on to shore, once wasn't enough and neither was twice, Zeina was surprised to see Bunny [I mean it's not every day a girl meets a rabbit woman] and a number of lovely ladies rush up to our hero, all taking at once. As our hero tried to calm them down and solve each of their very minor problems, Bunny pulled Zeina aside. Zeina was not the jealous type, and although the other women were quite beautiful and sexy, Zeina felt she could hold her own. Bunny explained that they were visiting from another universe and that where Bunny came from sex was a pleasure freely enjoyed by the women of that universe. Bunny explained that although the girls were all members of our hero's harem, he didn't control them. They knew for certain that he loved them all and would take care of their needs and wants. If any girl felt that her needs were not being properly looked after, they were free to leave the harem and join another or Bunny would return them to their own universe. You might think that this would be a little too much for anyone to believe, but Bunny has a way of getting her point across. After all, she is a rabbit woman there was no denying that fact. Zeina just had to touch Bunny's ears, but Bunny was use to that from first timers.

Before long, after proper introductions had taken place, Bunny took the harem shopping and left our hero with Zeina. Zeina said that she really liked all the girls, especially Bunny, and knew that they could become friends. Pulling Zeina into the shade of a tall palm tree, our hero looked her in the eye and asked, 'How would you like to be part of my harem? I promise to take good care of you, Bunny wouldn't let me get away with anything less.' Zeina replied as she shed her bikini for the second time that day, 'If you can make love to me, here and now, on this beach and show me all that you can do for me, I will answer your question.' As you know our hero loves a challenge and by the second round Zeina cooed, 'I feel my juice cumming from my throbbing pussy like a tsunami tidal wave... When you sensually pump me like this.... T just.... can't! Aaahhhh..... I cannot control it! Beware, I'm gonna flood your cock!' Taking this as an opportune time, our hero asked Zeina a second time, 'Would you like to be part of my harem?' Zeina, still in his arms, nibbled his ear and whispered, 'That is the best offer I have had in my life and I will gladly join your harem.' Just then Bunny and the girls returned from shopping only this time they all flooded around Zeina everyone speaking at once. Zeina soon realized that the girls were greatly impressed with the Hawaiian Hula storytelling dance show at the mall. They all wanted to learn how to do it and wondered if Zeina knew anything about it. Zeina said that she began learning that dance in the fifth grade and has taken many dance classes to perfect her dance. Zeina told the girls that she would be very happy to teach them the dance and right then and there on the beach she began to show them the basic steps. Bunny pulled our hero aside and gave him a knowing look. Our hero responded, 'Yes Bunny, we have another member of the harem and I believe she will get along well with the girls and not give you any trouble.' 'I'm glad to hear that,' Bunny replied, 'we could use an exotic girl like her.' 'Bunny, you'll always be my most exotic girl,' our hero said as he pulled her in and gave her a big kiss, rubbed her ears, and pinched her butt. Yes, Zeina had found her place in life and a new world of wonder awaited her in the haremverse.

Aries Women

<https://www.astrology.com/aries-woman.html>

Fun, free-spirited, and fiercely independent, the Aries woman is a breath of fresh air – a brightly burning candle in human form. Fire is her element, igniting all that she touches with the living spark of life.

The Aries personality is creative, passionate, energetic and – at times – domineering and short-tempered. A cardinal sign ruled by the planet Mars, the Ram is great at getting things going, initiating endeavors, and infusing her enthusiasm into everything she does. The key to understanding the Aries woman is realizing that she needs lots of tinder and solid wood to keep her spark burning – if not tended to lovingly and given all the attention that it needs, you'll find that her intense energy can fizzle itself right out.

Aries is the sign of the cosmic child, the fresh green sprout, the prodigal bright youth. She will always bring a completely new and unique perspective, regardless of the subject. Aries ladies have their own way of seeing the world: They often call it like it is, eagerly pointing out when the emperor is wearing no clothes.

A sense of playfulness and an appreciation for absurdity can make this wooly Ram the life of the party, and a joy to have as a companion. They're not afraid to be silly, and aren't shy about being the center of attention – but beware calling them out of their place in the spotlight, or talking about them behind their backs (even when you're saying something positive or neutral). They like to be in charge of how they are perceived, and often intensely dislike not being in control of their own image.

Relationships with these wild and headstrong creatures are not for the faint of heart – a female Aries will keep you on your toes with her fiery energy, blunt honesty, and satirical sense of humor. In all relationships, romantic or professional, equality is essential to the Aries woman. She will not tolerate chauvinism, being talked down to, or injustices of any kind. You honestly do not want to argue with an Aries because you won't win, ever – even if you're right!

The feminine Aries energy makes for passionate and generous lovers, delightfully fun friends, and excellent creative contributors. Sex with an Aries woman can be a combustible affair, a veritable bonfire of passion that can be completely consuming.

Aries rules the first house, which is all about physicality – so you'll discover that a female Aries lives fully in her body. The physical world is her natural domain, so a purely intellectual or emotional affair will simply not do for this glittering torch of a woman. She needs sexual connection on a regular basis to keep her happy (and healthy), so don't neglect loving on your Aries lady if you want her to stick around.

Can you trust your Aries woman? Well, that all depends on whether you give her a good reason not to wander off toward more exciting connections. A roving eye and appreciation for a sexy body kept fit and taut are hallmarks for this wild woman, so keep in shape if you want to keep up with her!

Aries woman's characteristics make her a hyper-independent, a natural leader with a powerful ability to inspire and motivate her team. She has a way of making any project fun, inciting engagement, and helping others face their fears and move past their boundaries.

This is a natural coach personality, who does best as the center of attention, the head of a project, and always the Boss! Definitely better when she's in charge or in a position of power, get used to this headstrong Ram telling you what's what. To prevent stepping on toes or losing her temper, an Aries may shine best as a self-employed person.

Aries women are incredibly charismatic, which means that they attract new people into their lives with ease. But maintaining healthy relationships is another story.

Aries women tend to be very focused on themselves: what they want, what they need, how they feel, how they can help someone else, and yes – their opinion.

Going by the traditions of horoscopic astrology, she can also be quite impatient, replete with a short fuse and explosive temper.

These character traits do not come from a place of deliberate selfishness. It is simply that Aries women have a healthy ego and extremely high expectations of themselves.

Sometimes they need a reminder to lift their head and look at the world beyond themselves.

Females born under the Aries sign like to take the initiative when it comes to romance and aren't afraid to approach someone and tell them what they want, or don't want.

They are upfront and honest about their feeling. Whether it is starting something new, or breaking up, you can trust an Aries woman to tell it to you straight, sometimes painfully so.

Her openness means that she has no patience for game players. If she thinks that someone is messing with her, they will quickly lose her trust.

However, in general, Aries women are quite trusting in relationships. Their self-confidence gives them confidence in their relationship.

When she does fall in love, An Aries woman falls hard and fast and holds nothing back.

She may have a tendency to be overly focused on her intense feelings – so much so that she fails to see important signals that the other person in the relationship is sending.

She can often be surprised to discover that the other person is not in the same place.

Each zodiac sign has individual notes that add a special charm to the character. Aries is characterized by a hot-tempered and passionate disposition. This is an unusual bouquet with many surprises inside. An Aries woman has an inner charm that attracts men to her like a magnet. People born under the constellation Aries obey the elements of Fire, which leaves a certain imprint on the behavior and perception of the environment. The favorable colors of the fire sign are all the overflows of red and yellow that are present in a flaming sunset or sparks of fire.

Many Aries women have a conventional masculine character: they are self-confident and power-hungry, they are not characterized by the softness and complaisance inherent in the fairer sex. Aries woman does not like to be poked in the face with her gender. The spirit of competition and protest is strongly developed in her, therefore, everyone who dares to reproach her for a lack or hint that she is stronger in any business, Aries will put on her shoulder blades, figuratively speaking. But, despite the ambitious nature of Aries women, men appreciate and love life companions born under this sign. Depending on how a girl uses her natural inclinations, they can manifest themselves in positive or negative aspects of her personality.

Aries women always look well-groomed and beautiful. They are willing to spend a lot of money to always maintain their beauty. As a rule, they have a fairly good figure. They prefer to emphasize it with tight-fitting outfits. It looks really luxurious but at the same time, for Aries girls, their own comfort is still more important than someone's opinion about their appearance. Therefore, they often wear sportswear or regular jeans and T-shirts.

Despite the fact that the Aries girl does not put relationships in the first place, she still starts a relationship. And different partners are suitable for this. Aries can flirt very beautifully and attract a huge number of men. Since childhood, the girl is surrounded by those who are ready to move mountains for her. Aries woman is a real predator but this is only at first glance. Next to a loving person, she will open from a completely different side. Indeed, in love, this is a very sincere and naive character. Aries do not chase the number of men and very rarely cheat on the partner they have chosen. Such women in a relationship are devoted to a person.

Another interesting aspect of an Aries woman's life is her career. As already mentioned, Aries is particularly ambitious. Such a woman is a perfectionist who will definitely not stop there. Purposefulness helps such a girl to achieve a lot. But her problem is that Aries always set goals too high. And if something fails, they get very upset. But she is devoted to her work to the end. Another distinguishing characteristic of the Aries woman is her sharp mind. It helps the girl to achieve a lot, especially in the exact sciences or in business.

The history of Ghamd goes back to the pre-Islamic era, and many members of Ghamd joined the forces of the early Muslim empire. The Alghamdi tribe belongs to the same root, Azd, as Al-Ansar. Al-Ansar are the two tribes which inhabited Madina, named Banu Khazraj and the Banu Aus, sheltered, supported, and fought with Muhammad in the early days of Islam when he and his early companions from Mecca had to leave it for Madina. Many members of Alghamdi tribe were companions of Muhammad and fought with him. Like most other tribes in the Hejaz region of the country, Ghamd is divided into three large groups, based on geography and lifestyle: the mountaineers (Hejaz) in the central highlands of Al-Baha, the bedouins (badyah) in the desert regions in Najd east of Hejaz, also in some parts of Bisha in Asir Region, and the tohm who inhabit the narrow plain of Tihama on the Red Sea coast.

There is no doubt that Ghamid is one of the oldest and largest tribes of the island, and one of the few tribes that have been known by name and tribal presence since pre-Islamic times until the present time, and the tribe is still in its homes. The Islamic conquests had a great impact on changing the demographics of the tribes of the Arabian Peninsula, and Ghamid is one of the tribes that was affected by this Arab-Islamic tide, so many of her sons went to the Islamic frontiers for jihad, and many of them migrated to the Islamic cities, east and west, and the news of most of the tribe's leaving the land of Hijaz disappeared.

When Abraha the Abyssinian passed along the lands of Al-Azd on his way to Mecca to demolish the Kaaba, he sent cavalry to conquer the Azd tribes, but Ghamid tribe confronted them, and defeated the cavalries.

The tribe is of Hejaz, it is considered the oldest tribe of Arabia according to genes examinations and ancient books, Ghamid members ruled many countries along history such as Iran, Egypt, Iraq, Island of Arabia, and Jordan. Ghamid is closely related to the neighboring tribe of Zahran. The history of Ghamd goes back to the pre-Islamic era, and many members of Ghamd joined the forces of the early Muslim empire. Like most other Azdtribes. The tribes historical location is in the region of Al-Bahah in southwestern of Hejaz region, and Najd in the east. It also have parts in Iraq, Jorden, Oman, Sudan, Egypt, Emirates, Yemen, and many other countries.

Saudi Arabia Dress Code

<https://www.economist.com/the-economist-explains/2015/01/28/saudi-arabias-dress-code-for-women>

COMMENTATORS, mainly non-Saudis, made a hullabaloo when Michelle Obama, America's first lady, turned up in Saudi Arabia on January 27th in colourful, loose-fitting clothing and no headscarf. The oil-rich kingdom is known for its women being swathed in long, black cloaks known as abayas, usually paired with the hijab (headscarf) or niqab (which leaves a slit for the eyes), or a burqa (which covers the body from head to toe, with a mesh for the eyes). So what do women, Saudi and foreign, actually have to wear in Saudi Arabia?

The key to understanding Saudi customs is the country's history. When the modern nation was founded in 1932, it was based on an 18th-century pact between the ruling Al Saud monarchy and a devout bunch of clerics who followed a fiery version of Islam, dubbed Wahhabism (after its founder Muhammad Ibn Abd al-Wahhab). Ever since, Saudi Arabia's laws have been based on this creed's strict version of sharia, or Islamic law, which in reality incorporates many desert traditions that have been cloaked in Islam. The full covering for women is considered to be one of these customs. But today it is enforced by the religious police and zealous volunteers.

While all versions of Islam suggest a woman should dress modestly, often covering her hair and body, Saudi Arabia is one of the only Muslim-majority countries that legally imposes a dress code (Iran is another). Women, foreign and local, must wear an abaya (a few get away with long coats) in public places. Muslim—often equated with Saudi—women are said to have to wear a headscarf; foreigners needn't. The face need not be covered, much to the chagrin of some hardliners. There are margins and uncertainties, too. The western coastal of Jeddah is far more relaxed than Riyadh, with abayas often brightly coloured or worn open to expose the clothing beneath. At home with relatives, in compounds and all-female settings, women can shed their outer layers. At some posh private Red Sea resorts, they go in bikinis. While many women head to aeroplane lavatories just before landing, not being fully covered is tolerated in the airport.

The strict dress code doesn't mean there is no room for personal expression or fashion. Abayas come in different cuts, colours, styles and fabrics, from plain black to ones with cartoon characters on the back, and from cotton daywear to lacy or frilly ones fit for an evening out. Most women have a wardrobe of options; abaya shops abound. Moreover, women can wear whatever shoes they like, from trainers to Jimmy Choos. The accessory business is booming in Saudi Arabia as bags, sunglasses and jewellery become the markers of taste. A number of women are heavily made up. Some suggest that defeats the point. As with other rules in the kingdom, many young people find ways around them. But a survey in January 2014 found that conservative attitudes remain pervasive among the population: despite half the sample saying women should be free to choose what to wear, two-thirds reckoned women should wear the niqab and another 11% the burqa—stricter forms of dress than the one currently enforced.
